Accessibility Resources

This page contains information and resources on accessibility in distance education, and applicable laws, policies and procedures. Faculty, staff, and students are encouraged to review these contents to better familiarize themselves with accessibility practices and regulations.

Laws, Policies and Guidelines

ADA Section 508 states that federal agencies must ensure their information and services are accessible to persons with disabilities. The revised 508 Standards include not just IT tools and systems, but electronic content such as documents, web pages, presentations, social media content, blogs, and certain emails.

ADA Section 504 states that "no qualified individual with a disability in the United States shall be excluded from, denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under" any program or activity that receives Federal financial aid.

Web Content Accessibility Guidelines (WCAG) 2.0, Level AA explains how to make web content (such as text, images, sounds, code or markup that defines structure, presentation) accessible to people with disabilities.

Texas Administrative Code (Rule 206.70 effective April 18, 2020) states that websites and web applications of Institutions of higher education must adhere to Section 508 and WCAG 2.0 Level AA.

Available Tools and Resources

The Office of Student AccessAbility provides support to students needing learning accommodations, and faculty seeking information on better providing those accommodations to their students.

MS Teams and Stream - Teams allows faculty to conduct virtual classes with real time close captioning. Stream adds captions to videos for asynchronous viewing.

Office 365 Accessibility Resources - Microsoft has a dedicated accessibility website that serves as a portal for finding their help resources for accessibility.
