ALEKS MATH Assessment

UT Dallas uses the ALEKS Assessment to optimize the placement of all students in their first math course. The UT Dallas Testing Center provides in person proctoring of the ALEKS assessment to UT Dallas students. You must complete all steps to confirm your ALEKS Assessment Registration prior to taking the assessment at the UT Dallas Testing Center.

Prior to Testing

Step 1: Students MUST initial and pay $40 for access to the ALEKS Assessment. Click here to register and pay for the ALEKS assessment. You will receive a payment receipt with a link to log into the ALEKS portal.

Step 2: Log into the link on your receipt with your UTD NetID and password and complete the initial un-proctored practice test.

IMPORTANT: You must complete the initial un-proctored attempt and must wait at least 72 hours (cooling off period) before being able to take the ALEKS proctored.

Step 3: Once the 72 hours (cooling off period) has passed (you can log into your ALEKS account and see the exact time your initial un-proctored exam ended.), you will be able to take the ALEKS proctored by selecting one of the testing options below.

Testing Options:

Students may use the online proctoring service Honorlock or test in person at the UT Dallas Testing Center.
